Situationship Game Instructions

 made with photosymbols®

We have made a game about relationships

The game is called 'Situationships'

You can play the Situationships game in person or by doing a video call

You can print extra copies of the Situationships game from the SCLD website

The aim of the game is learning about happy and healthy relationships

These are the instructions for the game

How to play

You can play on your own or in a team

The team should have 2 to 3 people

There should be at least 2 players or 2 teams

Pick a coloured counter

Decide who will go first

Roll the dice

Read the number on the dice
This is the number on top of the dice

Move the coloured counter along the squares on the board to match the number you have rolled on the dice

Some squares on the board are called Situationship Squares

When you land on a Situationship Square you need to pick up a Scenario Card

You can get larger print Scenario Cards on SCLD website

A Scenario Card is a card which tells you about a situation

A situation means something that is happening or has happened

Read what the card says

You can ask someone to read it with you

All of the players should talk about what the card says

Decide together if the story on the card is Something that is good in a relationship

Is it something that is bad in a relationship?

You might not be able to agree and that is ok

If you think what the card says is good move one square forward on the board

If you think what the card says is bad move back one square

If you all cannot decide then stay where you are

The winners are the first to reach the finish

But the aim of the game is to talk about relationships
